Client testimonials:

Sara Pegarella, Legalcom Group: John has been a fantastic addition to our team of writers. He regularly creates interesting, insightful content about complex legal topics, which shows how skilled he is at researching and conveying advanced concepts in general. He has even suggested potential article topics to us, which shows how invested he is in his clients. John is reliable, professional and great at what he does. I'm very happy to work with him and would recommend him to anyone who needs a quality writer.

Brian Elliott, Fighting Spirit Magazine: Bringing John Lister into Fighting Spirit Magazine was one of the best moves I made as its editor. His unique combination of knowledge and craft allowed the magazine to tackle subjects that were also important to me personally. John gets my highest recommendation.

Dennis Faas, Infopackets.com: John Lister has been writing for Infopackets as far back as 2006. As the CEO and Chief Editor of Infopackets, I've always found John's articles interesting to read. John is very flexible, able to put together compositions with minimal instruction, and always delivers on time. If there have ever been any issues, John has gotten back to me straight away. I highly recommend John if you are looking for a well-rounded, trustworthy and reliable writer for your company.

William Annison, HWWA Consulting: We have regularly asked John to research and write articles for us for a number of projects and most commonly for the Latest News section of our website. John is very approachable and easy to deal with. He picks up topics quickly and writes copy for us within the timescales we agree and we have found that we are able to post his copy without amendments. We will continue to work with John because we think he is excellent at what he does and do highly recommended his services.

Yan Fortin, Geeks Are Sexy: John Lister is a very hard working writer. He has never let me down in about a decade of work and has consistently produced quality content for many years without skipping a day. He's the kind of person who will not let you down and will bring great value to your business.

Secure-D Lab: We have built an ongoing cooperation with John and we are very satisfied. He has shown great professionalism and delivered pieces of high quality
